NEWS FROM STRATHCONA

MAYOR MILLS
SPRINGS A SENSATION

The Clash Between the Town Council and the Fire Brigade Ends in the Latter Being Put Out of Business Till a By-Law Passed.

As a climax to the difficulty existing between the Strathcona town council and the volunteer fire brigade, Mayor Mills at the meeting of the council last night voted to put the fire brigade out of business for the time being put the brigade entirely out of business. The discussion was long and a number of councilors had spoken when Mayor Mills vacated the chair and rose to address the council. He said that the citizens of Strathcona had given the fire brigade a large volume of the Consolidated Ordinance and the small brigade who were present at the meeting were of the opinion that some new development was to be undertaken.

The mayor expressed his sorrow at the position the brigade had taken and his pride, as a member of that great citizen army, in their past excellent work. It was with pain that he, and citizens generally, had seen the fire brigade, a short time ago, in action the firemen prepared to put out. But this was now up to him to do. He called the town council to order and said that the town was fit by-law to appropriate $1000 to enable the fire brigade to describe their dues. The officers and otherwise control the organization. The fire brigade had been privately organized, no by-law had been passed and under present circumstances it was necessary to pass a by-law from the town the money paid to the brigade, which had no status in the eyes of the law, was not valid. The firemen did not want constituted as a "rounds" to the action of the firemen for it would be a violation of the by-laws of the town stood. The council cannot legally interfere with the brigade at all.

Councillor Hubert had previously explained the appointment of Mr. G. C. Gaskins as chairman of the fire hall was satisfactory to him. Councillor Rankin thought that from the brigade's original desire to have the hall built they would have their thoughts actuated.

Secretary Patterson said the firemen had understood that the town had neglected their fire commandant and after a further discussion Councillor McParland gave notice that at next meeting he would introduce a by-law on the subject.

Following was the letter read at the meeting from the firemen:

I am compelled to inform you that our resignations are held in abeyance until the by-law is passed. In the meantime the following demands are compiled with:

That G. M. Great be retained at a salary of $750 per month to start from Jan 1st as chief of the fire department.

That the firemen's salary be $10 per man for 20 men for this quarter only and $12 per man for the next quarter.

Unless a favorable answer is received by the firemen by noon Saturday, Feb. 23rd we come to recommend members of the Strathcona Fire Brigade.

R. T. PETERSON, Chief.

COMMENTS GOVERNMENT

A recent issue of the Edmonton Times discussed a meeting held in that town by Hon. C. W. Cross and J. A. Holden, M.P.P., in the following words:

"There can be no question of the interest of the pleasant meeting in the Masonic hall addressed last week by Mr. Cross, attorney general for Alberta, and Mr. Holden, member of the Alberta legislature for the Vermilion district, in which, as is well known, the Alberta portion of Lloydminster is included. We had learned beforehand that the business to be dealt with was of a technical nature, and with the exception of one reference which turned out to be the case. It was, indeed, significant, that while the meeting was primarily held under Mr. Holden's chair, and while on his side, there was a large number in the audience who reside on the other side of the line and who cannot be classed with Liberal politicians. The addressed policy was, however, that of the government, and the policy of the government in relation to the taxation of the railways, the simplification of legal procedure, and the process of land transfers and the establishment of a trans-telephoneline were, of course, mentioned, and recalled by the government was obviously approved by those present independent of their political preferences. The proposed policy, however, of the government of Sir L. L. Holden and others similar towns and Mr. Holden's promises in regard to the construction of roads and bridges were naturally well received, for their usefulness is apparent to all. It was also obvious that one great object of the visit of Mr. Cross was to enlist the active support of the local people for the government in its struggle with the telephone company.

As Mr. Liske pointed out, indicated, this is a matter for future discussion, but at the same time most people would certainly prefer, other things being equal, a telephone system in one ownership controlled by an American syndicate. The late Sir William Harcourt once declared that "we are all socialists now-a-days, up to a certain extent true—any rate, in regard to our public utilities, and then there is a growing feeling, a healthy feeling too, in favor of the ownership by the state or of means of communication, water supply and lighting plant. The public ownership of the railways in Canada does not for the present fall within the sphere of practical politics—and we are not likely to see it again. There is no reason why the telephone system of the North West should be placed at the mercy of any great company, however specious their offers may be. In the taxation of the railways with some modification, the appeal to the privy council be successful—and in the establishment of this telephone trans line the Alberta government, I am confident, will be the people behind them entirely, irrespective of partisan politics. If we did not approve of this policy we should have no hesitation in saying so. We do strongly approve of it, and have just as little hesitation in expressing our approval."

HUDSON'S BAY ROUTE

The announcement by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that before the end of the present session he expects to make an important speech concerning the Hudson's Bay route, has given rise to a suspicion of opinion that the western provinces should have an outlet for their produce, via Hudson's Bay, will be received with marked approval in Alberta.

For some time an effort has been made to secure evidence as to the feasibility of this route and in every case reports have been more or less favorable and the further the investigation goes the more favorable the evidence that the route is feasible.

Mr. Elihu Stewart, Dominion superintendent of forestry, made a trip down the Peace and Mackenzie rivers last year and also through Hudson's Bay. On his return he gave evidence he had met a captain of a whaling vessel who said he found the sea nearly free from ice during the summer months. It is a remarkable occurrence as the northern shores of navigation by Hudson's Bay is free from ice in summer. The sailors on the whaling vessel claimed that the same conditions existed right up through the Arctic. Mr. Stewart also found that while he had spent some time, Mr. Stewart had found that wheat planted in May could be reaped in July, a very remarkable showing for a territory over three hundred miles north of Edmonton. These are only added evidences regarding the splendid resources of the north country and the feasibility of finding a short grain route to the European market through Hudson's Bay. The decisions of the House of Commons upon this question will be one of the most important utterances made in the House of Commons this session.

Pedigree and Individual Excellence

C. H. MacRae emphasizes the importance of Pedigree in Breeding—Breeding for Utility Always—The Dairy Industry in Alberta.

The importance of pedigree to the live stock breeder is demonstrated in a very able manner by Mr. C. H. MacRae before the students of the stock judging school at the high school Thursday.

The first point he makes is that pedigree of the animals were the Arabs and it is possible to trace the Arab blood and stem in all the important breeds of the present day. The value of a pedigree depends upon the man who breeds and upon the man who records the data in the herd books. Many fine animals probably of the best blood lines have been excluded from the registers because of improper breeding, in recording in former generations.

Pedigree is an important consideration, but as much so is the individual. A dog with a high pedigree is worse than a dog with no pedigree in an impotency and tendency to disease in that particular strain. Such an animal must have had some inheritance of disease, and the greater the value the individual the greater is the effect upon it in progeny. A good individual in a bad blood line may be a freak, and will invariably throw bad progeny.

EFFECT OF PURE BLOOD
A strain of cattle which has been crossed with a pure blood sire and mated dam is to get in the majority of cases more progeny than a cross. The range varies from 90 per cent to 90 per cent as strong as the transmitting power of the sire. The power of selection over the mixed bloods of the dam. No grade animal, no matter how cross-bred, would be considered as a pure breed.

The future of the pure breeding of live stock depends upon the breeders themselves. All other conditions were favorable.

HISTORY OF BREEDS
There were many things breeders should know that they did not understand. Breeders in the past had made mistakes. For example in the 1800's breeders did not know that there are two types—based on the nobility very hairy, and hairy, and the other very smooth and more serviceable. Many farmers did not know that there were two types of cattle. Peter the Great in the U.S. in Standard Breeds had many many mistakes in breeding for fat cattle, and the result of this is that breeding was utility.

CHOICE OF BREEDS
One could at a time was a safe rule to follow. The hogger should study his favorite breed as a pure breed. It is important to have a mixture of strong type characters and proportionate to the animal he has chosen to establish a strain and breeding herd.

DAIRYING
Speaking of the dairy industry on Wednesday, Mr. MacRae referred to the importance of the dairy industry. The grain grower might look down upon the dairyman, but the dairyman is the one who is the market for its product the who of Canada. The grand total of dairy products in Canada is about $100,000,000. While the highest estimate of its value is about $150,000,000. At present the western farmer has a good demand for market caused by the demand for grain and the demand and material development that is in progress. In a few years this will be met by the demand for grain and cause and diversity, to insure cheap production.

The best breeds are the Holsteins and Ayrshires. In hilly portions of the provinces Ayrshires are the best, but in the flat country Holsteins. Holsteins and Ayrshires, while for business, could surpass the Jersey and Guernsey.

Mr. MacRae drew attention to the fact that the dairy herd is a good one. There should be regular calving, and the calves should be in a herd. Many cows are merely bony bones. Hence the value of the cow largely depends upon the quality of the milk. The Department of Agriculture of Ottawa.

In building up a herd the best area should be selected, and the best animals of the best milking qualities and the young heifers carefully selected.

Mr. MacRae said that the best way to obtain a pure water supply, and a supply of sufficient feed for the cattle.

FEEDING THE CALVES
The best way to feed the calves is on the raw milk for the first ten days. When milk is used it should be suspended in a bag and tied to a post, where after they should be ground to produce bones and muscle. On the tenth day the calves should go on the grain in the second year. Feeding should commence at two years of age. The calves should be fed the young heifer from developing into a heifer type instead of the milking type. Great care should be taken to prevent the calves from getting during the period that comes dry to separate her for the winter.

Mr. MacRae did not look with favor upon the purebred cow. She was not a paying animal.
